Welcome to the November edition. The Barossa Council Public Library is excited to announce some recent changes. We are now opening until 7pm on Wednesdays at Nuriootpa Library as part of our commitment to providing more flexible services to all members of our community. We're also trialing a change of venue on Sundays, so instead of heading to Nuriootpa, come and see us at Tanunda Library between 12pm and 3pm. To find out more about the recommendations from our Library Services Review, head to our website.

Stay tuned for some Summery evening programs, authors events, the return of STEAM Club and regular children's activities and so much more.

WELCOME TO NEW STAFF

Please help us in welcoming Simone Stretton as the libraries Digital Literacy and Programs Officer. Simone has a background in Contemporary Arts and Project Management combined with recent working history in customer service and libraries. Simone has a passion for community connections and program creation and is looking forward to producing some exciting upcoming events.

Also joining us is Keely Lydeamore as a Library Experience Officer. In addition to working at the library Keely also works at a local cellar door and is currently studying for a Bachelor of Primary Education. Keely is driven by a love of learning and the need to help others - coincidentally matching her role in the library perfectly. She has already added to the welcoming and positive environment that the Barossa Library offers.

Reviews

Mary Ann & Captain Piper by Jessica North

This well-researched and entertaining true story tells the tale of Mary Ann who was born in 1791 to convicts in rural Norfolk Island.

Mary Ann went from a barefoot child to a lady after marrying Commandant Captain John Piper in the newly developing colony of New South Wales.

Together they lived in early societies grandest home notable for its extravagant entertainments. Garden parties, balls and waited dinners led Mary Ann and Captain Piper to societal fame, but trouble loomed as the pair continued to live way beyond their means. This fascinating illustrated book is like a potted history lesson, easily read and rich with detail. Information compiled from personal letters, diaries and articles gives a snapshot of the colonial settlers' scandalous lives.

This book is enticing and a great read, highly recommended for fans of colonial history.

Arabella's Alphabet Adventure Suzy Zail

A children's picture book with much more to offer, Arabella's Alphabet Adventure delves into an exciting world of colourful illustrations, comedic truths and humbling memories of childhood.

Follow Arabella as she adventures into new books in the library seeking the adult world of information and knowledge. In her travels she makes a humbling discovery, that perhaps the world of adults isn't all it's cracked up to be!

A great family story-time read that is sure to excite children and remind their parents of their childhood love for the library.
